Preface

1. Restrictions for Gender and Apparel

Ideally Adam and Eve should be performed by a male bassoonist and female oboist. If either or both are of different gender than specified in the prior sentence then both musicians must clothe and present themselves in such a manner as to appear gender neutral.

If there is a single narrator, the narrator may be of either gender. If there is more than one narrator (or actor) then gendered roles must be performed by the appropriate gender as follows:

Either Gender	Male	Female
Poet	Adam	Eve
Narrator	God, the Father (may also be spoken synchronously by one male and one female narrator)
Angel
Scripture Reader
Satan

It is required that all participants be clothed in a manner appropriate for a “G rated” film in the USA and Canada, “U” in the United Kingdom, or “普” in China.

Any departure from these restrictions must receive written permission from Terry B. Ewell.

2. Instrumentation

Oboe (or treble instrument such as Flute, Clarinet, or Violin)

Bassoon (or bass instrument such as Cello)

Hand drum (recommendation: 14 inch Remo Buffalo Drum. See picture below under Props)

Tambourine

Instructions for the Percussion Instruments in Paradise Lost

One hand drum will be used for both the Judgment and Mercy Drums. This drum represents divine actions of the Holy Spirit.

When there is a single narrator, this person plays the percussion instruments. A separate percussion performer is also an option.

The Judgment Drum pattern is always with two notes. These are played loudly and forcefully with the drum held over the head.

The Mercy Drum pattern varies in length and dynamics as indicated in the music or by the performer's discretion. The Mercy Drum is played in front of the body (normal playing position).

Satan's tambourine pattern varies in length and dynamics as indicated in the narrative or by the performer's discretion. This instrument is performed in a normal playing position. This is the pattern for “Satan's Soliloquies”:

The pattern for the “Temptation of Eve” is just shaking the tambourine without the “stinger” at the end. The tambourine should be played temptingly or coyly in the “Temptation of Eve.”

The symbol “~” indicates the place in the score where the tambourine is played. When placed immediately adjacent to the text in “Temptation of Eve,” this indicates that the tambourine plays while there is narration. When placed alone, without text, the tambourine is played without narration.

3. Props

4. Synopsis

1. Introduction. The poet appeals for inspiration.
2. Adam. Introduction of Adam, bassoon solo. The bassoon represents Adam in this drama.
3. Eve. Introduction of Eve, oboe solo. The oboe represents Eve in this drama.
4. Worship and Dance. Adam and Eve worship and pray in the Garden of Eden. Melodies presented in their solos are combined in harmony. They and the animals celebrate life. Their joyful dance is joined by the “Mercy Drum” representing God's Spirit.
5. Angel's Charge. An angelic being charges Adam to not eat the forbidden fruit. The “Judgment Drum” is introduced with its two loud beats.
6. Satan's Soliloquies. In hell Satan rallies and encourages his fallen demons with speeches. Satan with his tambourine and his minions with their noises encourage the audience to applaud. Satan is envious of Adam and Eve in their happy state. He decides to entice them into sin.
7. Temptation of Eve. Satan appearing in the form of a serpent converses with Eve in the Garden of Eden. He charms her with flattering words. He tells how the serpent ate the forbidden fruit and was transformed from an ignorant beast to one that can now talk and reason. He says that Eve would also be transformed to a greater, more knowledgeable being by eating the fruit. Once sin has entered into Eve's thoughts her music begins to change, becoming increasingly more dissonant.
8. Temptation of Adam. Eve has sinned and is now concerned that she will be abandoned in disgrace. She pleads with Adam to eat the fruit. Adam reasons (as does Eve) that he has only two choices: be separated from Eve by rejecting the fruit or join her by eating the fruit. The music, however, indicates that Adam had a third choice: that of mediation with God. Adam chooses to eat the fruit. Both instruments now lament the changes in Adam's and Eve's lives and the world.
9. Judgment. God comes to the Garden and finds Adam and Eve hiding. He then judges the serpent, Eve, and Adam for their transgressions.
10. Repentance. Adam and Eve fall down and repent before God. The Son of God intercedes before the throne of God, the Father for them. Mercy is granted.
11. Sacrifice. The Son of God comes to Adam and Eve. Offers the sacrifice and clothes both with skins.
12. Expulsion. Adam and Eve are sent from the Garden of Eden. The pronouncement of judgment is given with the Judgment Drum. However, the Mercy Drum accompanies the couple as they leave paradise.

5. About the Composition

China has an interesting connection to this composition. In the summer of 2010 I was privileged to return to China after twenty years. I performed and taught students and faculty at SIAS university as part of the MasterWorks Festival in China. One evening I performed Gethsemane for Solo Bassoon in a faculty recital. Gethsemane was written in Hong Kong at a time I was Principal Bassoon of the Hong Kong Philharmonic. That evening when I performed the work at SIAS university I made the comparison between the first garden (Eden) and the second garden (Gethsemane). In the first garden Adam made a decision to rebel against God. In the second garden Jesus, who is called the “second Adam,” made a decision to fulfill His mission to God. Two gardens, two decisions. It was at that time I considered writing a companion work for Gethsemane, with the setting in Eden. John Milton's epic poem Paradise Lost immediately came to mind and I started considering the text. I consulted with my friends Doris DeLoach (oboist) and Rich Swingle (actor) about their interest in the project. Both encouraged and supported me throughout the completion of the project. The first draft of the composition was completed in January 2011.

6. About the Composer

Terry B. Ewell (b. 1958) is professor of bassoon and music theory at Towson University. From 2001 to 2005 he was President of the International Double Reed Society. He served as Principal Bassoon of the Hong Kong Philharmonic and the Wheeling Symphony and also has performed with the Seattle Symphony, Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, West Virginia Symphony, Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, and the Baltimore Chamber Orchestra. Currently he performs as Principal Bassoon of the Mid-Atlantic Symphony, The Orchestra of St. John's, and the Bach Concert Series Orchestra. During the summer he is a faculty member at the MasterWorks Music Festival in Winona Lake, Indiana. Dr. Ewell is a leading exponent of double reed pedagogy through digital media. His YouTube videos have received over ¼ million downloads and other web materials have received over ¾ million downloads. Many of his materials may be accessed at www.2reed.net and www.idrs.org.

7. Acknowledgments

Many people provided the encouragement and expertise for me to complete this project. I am grateful to Doris DeLoach for our initial conversations about the composition and her encouragement. Rich Swingle was invaluable for his insights as an actor and collaborator. Dr. Patrick Kavanaugh's compositions which combined narration with music also provided inspiration for this project. N. Scott Robinson advised me on the hand drum. Dr. Earl Baldwin and members of the Trinity Assembly of God Prayer Center provided “prayer covering” for the project during critical times when the music was written. Brian Griswold not only helped with publicizing the initial performances but aided me through our weekly conversations. In addition, I am most grateful to Laurel Ewell, my loving wife, who provided not only her sewing skills for the apparel in the initial performances, but her ongoing support throughout the entire project.

8. Text

The text of Paradise Lost employed in this composition is from <http://www.ccel.org/ccel/milton/paradiselost.html> with revisions. For translations of the text to other languages see http://www.bryantmcgill.com/World_Poetry/~J/John_Milton.

6. SATAN'S SOLILOQUIES [Timing 5 min.]

SCRIPTURE READER

"How you are fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! How you are cut down to the ground, You who weakened the nations! For you have said in your heart: 'I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God; I will also sit on the mount of the congregation On the farthest sides of the north; I will ascend above the heights of the clouds, I will be like the Most High.' Yet you shall be brought down to Sheol, To the lowest depths of the Pit.

(Isaiah 14: 12-15, NKJV)

(Scene in Hell. OBOIST and BASSOONIST leave instruments and drape golden stoles on instruments. Instrumentalists take reeds. Narrator removes and leaves golden stole on drum. Narrator puts on rubber snake. Narrator takes tambourine)

PART II, TEMPTATION [Timing 16 min.]

7. TEMPTATION OF EVE [Timing 9 min.]

Garden of Eden. OBOIST and BASSOONIST return to instruments, put on golden scarves. OBOIST moves to center stage with music on stand. NARRATOR may leave on snake during scripture reading here.

SCRIPTURE READER

Now the serpent was more cunning than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said to the woman, "Has God indeed said, 'You shall not eat of every tree of the garden'?"

(Gen. 3:1, NKJV)

(dialogue between SATAN and EVE, tambourine and oboe.
BASSOONIST seated with golden scarf)

(Satan's tambourine shake, should be done temptingly, coyly.)

(Bassoon Eden background music begins)

SCRIPTURE READER

So when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree desirable to make one wise, she took of its fruit and ate. She also gave to her husband with her, and he ate. (Gen. 3:6, NKJV)

OBOE RESPONSE 7 Tacet

NARRATOR

Thus EVE with Countenance blithe her storie told;
But in her Cheek distemper flushing glowd.
On th' other side, ADAM, soon as he heard
The fatal Trespass done by EVE, amaz'd,
Astonied stood and Blank, while horror chill
Ran through his veins, and all his joynts relax'd;
From his slack hand the Garland wreath'd for EVE
Down drop'd, and all the faded Roses shed:
Speechless he stood and pale, till thus at length
First to himself he inward silence broke.

Of thy perfection, how shall I attaine,
ADAM, from whose deare side I boast me sprung,

And gladly of our Union heere thee speak,
One Heart, one Soul in both; whereof good proof
This day affords, declaring thee resolv'd,

PART III, CONSEQUENCES

[timing 13 minutes]

9. JUDGMENT [Timing 3 ½ min.]

(MUSICIANS seated, NARRATOR with Golden Stole and Drum)

NARRATOR

The Evening coole when he from wrath more coole
Came the mild Judge and Intercessor both
To sentence Man: the voice of God they heard
Now walking in the Garden, by soft winds
Brought to their Ears, while day declin'd, they heard
And from his presence hid themselves among

(MUSICIANS raise stands and hide behind them)

The thickest Trees, both Man and Wife, till God
Approaching, thus to ADAM call'd aloud.

(Judgment Drum two beats here and below)

GOD THE FATHER

Where art thou ADAM, wont with joy to meet
My coming seen far off? I miss thee here,
Not pleas'd, thus entertain'd with solitude,
Where obvious dutie erewhile appear'd unsaught:
Or come I less conspicuous, or what change
Absents thee, or what chance detains? Come forth.

(MUSICIANS stand up but look at the ground)

NARRATOR

He came, and with him EVE, more loth, though first
To offend, discount'nanc't both, and discompos'd;
Love was not in their looks, either to God
Or to each other, but apparent guilt,
And shame, and perturbation, and despaire,
Anger, and obstinacie, and hate, and guile.

(Book 9, Pages 205-6; Book 10, lines 95-114)

(Judgment Drum)

NARRATOR

To Judgment he proceeded on th' accus'd
Serpent though brute, unable to transferre
The Guilt on him who made him instrument...

And on the Serpent thus his curse let fall.

GOD THE FATHER
(Speaking to snake and tambourine)

Because thou hast done this, thou art accurst
Above all Cattel, each Beast of the Field;
Upon thy Belly groveling thou shalt goe,
And dust shalt eat all the days of thy Life.

Between Thee and the Woman I will put
Enmitie, and between thine and her Seed;
Her Seed shall bruise thy head, thou bruise his heel.

NARRATOR

So spake this Oracle, then verifi'd
When JESUS son of MARY second EVE,
Saw Satan fall like Lightning down from Heav'n,

(Book 9, Pages 208-9, Book 10, lines 164-184)

(Judgment Drum)

NARRATOR

And to the Woman thus his Sentence turn'd.

GOD THE FATHER
(Speaking to OBOIST or Oboe)

Thy sorrow I will greatly multiplie
By thy Conception; Children thou shalt bring
In sorrow forth, and to thy Husband's will
Thine shall submit, he over thee shall rule.

(Book 9, Page 209, Book 10, lines 192-6)

(Judgment Drum)

GOD THE FATHER
(Speaking to BASSOONIST or Bassoon)

I charg'd thee, saying: Thou shalt not eate thereof,
Curs'd is the ground for thy sake, thou in sorrow
Shalt eat thereof all the days of thy Life;
Thornes also and Thistles it shall bring thee forth
Unbid, and thou shalt eat th' Herb of th' Field,
In the sweat of thy Face shalt thou eat Bread,
Till thou return unto the ground, for thou
Out of the ground wast taken, know thy Birth,

For dust thou art, and shalt to dust returne.

NARRATOR

So judg'd he Man, both Judge and Saviour sent,
And th' instant stroke of Death denounc't that day

12. EXPULSION [Timing 3 min.]

SCRIPTURE READER

So He drove out the man; and He placed cherubim at the east of the garden of Eden, and a flaming sword which turned every way, to guard the way to the tree of life.

(Gen. 3:24, NKJV)

(Judgment Drum: two drum beats)

GOD THE FATHER

But longer in that Paradise to dwell,
The Law I gave to Nature him forbids: (Book 10, Pages 232-233, Book 11, Lines 1-49)

(Judgment Drum)

NARRATOR

Th' Archangel stood, and from the other Hill
To their fixt Station, all in bright array
The Cherubim descended; on the ground
Gliding meteorous, as Ev'ning Mist
Ris'n from a River o're the marish glides,
And gathers ground fast at the Labourers heel
Homeward returning. High in Front advanc't,
The brandisht Sword of God before them blaz'd

(Knife or sword raised)

Fierce as a Comet; which with torrid heat,
And vapour as the LIBYAN Air adust,
Began to parch that temperate Clime; whereat
In either hand the hastning Angel caught
Our lingring Parents, (musicians stand)
and to th' Eastern Gate
Let them direct, and down the Cliff as fast
To the subjected Plaine; then disappeer'd.

(Expulsion music starts--vamp, MUSICIANS stand not yet moving)
